

Society & Culture

Society in the City of Order emphasizes obedience, honor, and service. The elite dwell within Khenan Vale or Rosemore Vale, while the growing lower classes crowd the outer edges—particularly North Calek and the Westmeadows. Faith in Anaar permeates all levels of life, from school teachings to street sermons.

The city is not without flaws: black market trade persists in Old Weststall and the Westmeadows, despite strict enforcement by the City Guard, Wall Guard, and Stronghold Guard battalions. Smuggling and quiet resistance simmer beneath the surface of its radiant discipline.
